SECRETARY OF STATE MONAE JOHNSON WILL HOST NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SECRETARIES OF STATE 2026 CONFERENCE

PIERRE, S.D. – South Dakota Secretary of State Monae L. Johnson is proud to announce that the National Association of Secretaries of State (NASS) has selected South Dakota to host its 2026 Summer Conference.

The event will bring Secretaries of State, senior election officials, business service leaders, and policy experts from across the nation to the Mount Rushmore State for several days of collaboration, networking, and discussion on key issues affecting state governments.

The 2026 conference will showcase South Dakota's national leadership in modern election administration, business services innovation, and civic engagement, while also highlighting the state's unique culture, hospitality, and natural beauty.

"It is an honor to welcome my colleagues from across the country to South Dakota," said Secretary Johnson. "This conference is not only an opportunity to share best practices and strengthen partnerships, but also a platform to demonstrate the strength and transparency of our state's election system, the excellence of our public service, and the incredible beauty that makes South Dakota a destination worth experiencing. We are excited to promote our state and show the nation why South Dakota is such a remarkable place to live, work, and visit."

Secretary Johnson attended the NASS 2025 Summer Conference in Mississippi. The NASS Summer Conference serves as a platform for state leaders to exchange ideas, develop bipartisan solutions, and address challenges in elections, business services, and other areas overseen by Secretaries of State. South Dakota's selection as host reflects its national reputation as a proven leader in secure, transparent, and efficient governance, and its commitment to promoting the state's values, people, and opportunities on the national stage.
