- 1) When political campaign signs can be posted and when the signs must be taken down.
- 2) The size of the political campaign signs.
- 3) Where political campaign signs can or cannot be posted.

No campaigning can be done within 100 feet of a polling place (this includes the court house during absentee voting and absentee voting satellite locations).

Except for sample ballots and materials and supplies necessary for the conduct of the election, no person may, in any polling place or within or on any building in which a polling place is located or within one hundred feet from any entrance leading into a polling place, maintain a campaign office or public address system, or use any communication or photographic device in a manner which repeatedly distracts, interrupts, or intimidates any voter or election worker, or display campaign posters, signs, or other campaign materials or by any like means solicit any votes for or against any person or political party or position on a question submitted or which may be submitted. No person may engage in any practice which interferes with the voter's free access to the polls or disrupts the administration of the polling place, or conduct any petition signature gathering, on the day of an election, within one hundred feet of a polling place. For the purposes of this section, the term, polling place, means a designated place voters may go to vote on the day of the election or go to vote absentee. A violation of this section is a Class 2 misdemeanor.

*The county may also have an ordinance that regulates political campaign signs outside of the city limits.

*The South Dakota Department of Transportation regulates the use of right-of-ways. The use of right-of-ways is reserved for highway signage. Any sign in the right-of-way that is not required for traffic control as authorized by law is prohibited and will be removed. This includes both candidate and ballot issue signs.
